Fiserv's ACCEL/Exchange(R) Teams Up with Allpoint to Give Members More Free ATMs

Leading ATM/POS Network Offers Preferred Access to 32,000 Additional Surcharge-Free ATMs

BROOKFIELD, Wis., Jan 17, 2007 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- The ACCEL/Exchange Network, owned and operated by Fiserv, Inc. (NASDAQ: FISV), today announced that it will begin offering its financial institution members preferred access to surcharge-free ATMs through Allpoint, America's largest surcharge-free ATM network. The expanded surcharge-free access is expected to complement ACCEL/Exchange's own surcharge-free alliance, No SUR!(SM), by extending a member's reach to Allpoint's nationwide network of ATMs. Members looking for surcharge-free ATMs for their customers will now have the option of signing on to the Allpoint network, the No SUR! alliance, or both.

"With more than 32,000 ATMs, Allpoint will be a boon to our members who require surcharge-free access coast to coast," said Mike Williams, senior vice president of the ACCEL/Exchange Network. "Designed for all financial institutions seeking greater access, Allpoint will provide our members' customers with unmatched convenience and savings, and the members with the tools to level the playing field as they compete with larger institutions for customers. The fact that we can now offer discounted access to Allpoint, will make membership in ACCEL/Exchange all the more valuable."

"We are pleased to be able to offer ACCEL/Exchange and its members, affordable access to Allpoint surcharge-free ATMs," said Ben Psillas, president of Allpoint. "As one of the largest and most respected players in the industry, Fiserv has provided Allpoint with an extremely beneficial, long-term partnership, and we look forward to being part of the phenomenal growth of its ACCEL/Exchange network."
